Welcome Back!

As we emerge into a new World, we do so with a new perspective. Perhaps we'll pay more attention to the little things?

One thing is for sure, we need to travel with the confidence that our health & safety has been prioritized and that is something that we take very seriously.

For that very reason, we are pleased to introduce our new series of Private Fly-In Holidays, where each aspect of your journey has been carefully considered with your health in mind. From private flights from your home airport to the cleanliness protocols at our Villas.

We've created a few great examples of flying private to and from our Villa's but do remember, we can arrange private flights to and from any villa in our collection.

Welcome Back.

The Villa Collection offers luxury villa holidays in long-haul destinations including the Caribbean, Indian Ocean, USA, Middle East, Europe and Far East. We feature a wide range of accommodations including apartments, private villas, villa resorts & hotels, and private islands. All our accommodations offer self-catering facilities with full kitchens, spacious living and dining space and many have private pools, are fully staffed and many are located close to or on the beach or ocean.

We established The Villa Collection out of a passion for luxury travel to exclusive and tropical places. The founding Directors, Andrea and Gemma, have a combined 30 years of experience in the tourism industry, with extensive backgrounds in tour operating, hotel operations and tourism marketing.

We cherry pick our suppliers very carefully and in each destination we have partners on the ground that will ensure clients receive all the support and services they require. Our villas have been handpicked and in the destinations we know best.

Our customers therefore benefit from personalised advice ensuring they experience amazing holidays with memories to last a lifetime.

Many of the flights and flight-inclusive holidays on this website are financially protected by the ATOL scheme. But ATOL protection does not apply to all holiday and travel services listed on this website. Please ask us to confirm what protection may apply to your booking. If you do not receive an ATOL Certificate then the booking will not be ATOL protected. If you do receive an ATOL Certificate but all the parts of your trip are not listed on it, those parts will not be ATOL protected. Flying Private - The Benefits

With aircraft operational bases in the United Kingdom, across Europe, Africa and the United States, we are well positioned to provide global connectivity. A recent study identified 300 key potential virus transmitting touch-points when travelling commercially through major airports versus 70 when flying privately. Naturally this cannot be guaranteed at all times particularly when airports do not offer private terminals, but it is certainly food for thought.

It is also important to note that flying privately does not necessarily always mean flying by private jet. We are pleased to offer a fleet of turbo-prop aircraft, many of which are as comfortable as a private jet yet offer a lower operational cost.

Before you fly

Most airports have a separate private terminal, also known as a FBO, which accommodates private jet users and crews. This building is set apart from the main airport terminal, so private passengers can avoid this altogether.

Passengers generally spend very little time in the FBO, so they are very calm and uncrowded spaces. There are lounge facilities but most passengers prefer to go directly to their aircraft soon after arrival. Security and immigration checks are made of course, but there are no queues, and they are very fast and efficient.

Since the start of the COVID-19 pandemic, FBO staff has been wearing masks and gloves, with hand sanitiser made widely available to passengers and crew members. The number of social interactions has been reduced to a minimum, so passengers will only interact with one or two staff members during their short time at the FBO.

On Board

Previously the private jet captain would have met his passengers in the FBO, and would have shaken their hands before accompanying them to the aircraft. This is now different – the captain will still greet the passengers, and communicate with them fully. But this is all done at more of a distance, with a welcome wave, rather than a handshake.

Inside the cabin and during the flight, crew members now remain at a distance, wherever possible. We’re advising our customers to opt for a larger cabin aircraft if they wish to keep their distance from other passengers and crew. To limit the number of people on board, flight attendants are now only recommended on flights if they are necessary for passenger safety. Masks, gloves and hand sanitiser are available onboard for both passenger and crew use.

Catering is prepared and delivered to the aircraft by specialist premium catering suppliers, who are taking even greater hygiene measures than usual. This is already waiting on the aircraft when the passengers arrive. During the flight, the passengers serve themselves to food and drinks, to avoid others touching their food.

On Arrival

After landing, passengers pass quickly through the necessary checks at their arrival airport or, where possible (for example on domestic routes) can be collected by car on the ramp, after stepping off the aircraft. Private jets are thoroughly cleaned between each flight and sealed until the next one, paying close attention to high-touch areas
